County schools note small enrolment jump

According to unofficial figures released by elementary and secondary school principals in Haliburton County, the total number of students registering for classes has increased slightly since last year.

The official total enrolment in September 1983 was 1806 students, a slight increase in the previous year's figures which marked an end to the steady decline in enrolment which began in 1977.

In 1976 when the total attendance reach a peak, 2254 students attended schools in Haliburton County.

This year's unofficial figure is 1812 students.

Enrolment in elementary schools in Dorset, Gooderham, Cardiff and the Victoria Street Elementary School remains the same as last year.

Enrolment in the Wilberforce Elementary School has increased from 48 to 57 students.

Increases are also reported at Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden (up by 11.5 students) and the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School with an increase of 11 students.

The J. Douglas Hodgson Senior Elementary School in Haliburton was the only school in the County registering a decrease in enrolment. Enrolment at the school has declined from 455 students to 425 this year.

According to principal Douglas Devolin, the most significant decrease in enrolment occurred in the Grade 8 class which declined by 25 students from 100 students last year. Eighteen of the students are recent arrivals in the County.

Included in the total enrolment are 12 students who will be attending school under the recently established KinArk program. Devolin reports that a new building is being constructed adjacent to the school to house the KinArk facility and should be completed by the end of September.

Mackay Brydon, who is beginning his first year as principal at Archie Stouffer Elementary School reports that a total of 461 students have enrolled this month. He points out that Kindergarten students are counted as half students because they only attend school on alternate days. There are 28 students in one Kindergarten class and 29 in the second class, making the official enrolment 432.5.

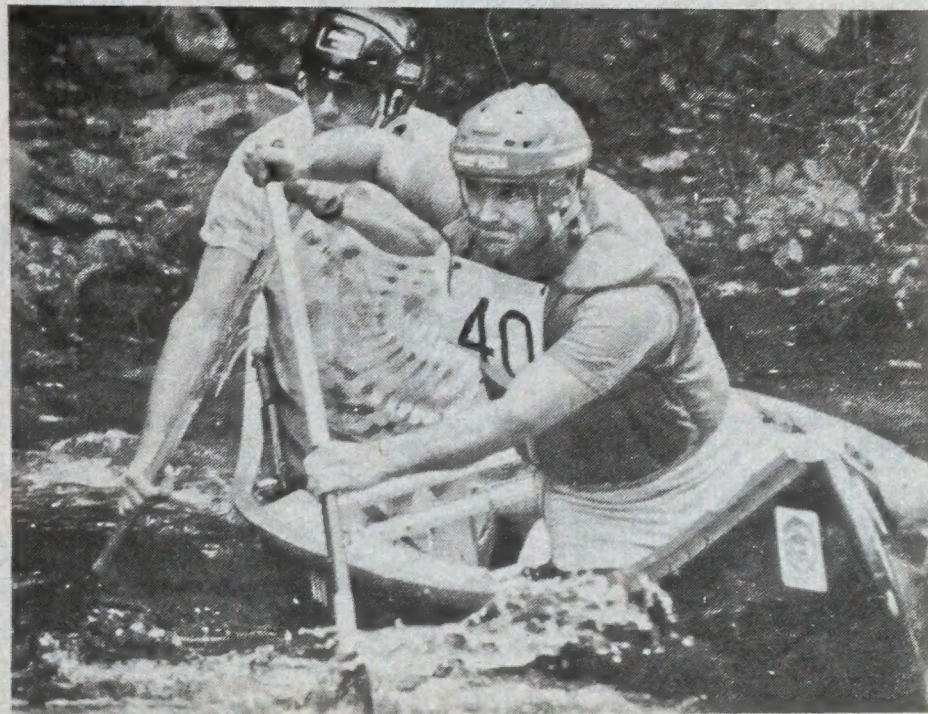

Mackay predicts that there are a small number of students who have yet to register and notes "We will likely stabilize at this level over the next few years."

A grade five and six French teacher, a special education teacher, both of whom transferred from the J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School, are joined by the new grade three teacher to increase the teaching staff by three at the Minden school.

Counsellor charged in shooting incident

A charge of careless use of a firearm has been laid against a Toronto area youth following an incident this summer at Camp Northland on Moose Lake. The charge was laid following an incident in which Ari Goldkind of Toronto was blinded in one eye after a pellet gun was discharged inside a cabin at the camp.

The charge has been laid against 17 year old Hilton Maizel who was a counsellor at the camp at the time of the incident.

According to reports, the victim underwent two operations in Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children in an effort to save the sight of the eye, but they were unsuccessful.

Maizel is scheduled to appear in Provincial Court in Minden on October 10.

Missing person

Police are carrying out an extensive investigation into the disappearance of an elderly lady near Horseshoe Lake. The woman, who has yet to be identified, is believed to have walked away from a cottage on the lake sometime Monday night. Police found a flashlight, believed to be carried by the individual, on a nearby dock, but were unable to locate her.

Based on the assumption that she may have fallen into the water, the local detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police have requested the use of a police helicopter to aid in the search. Divers are also expected to be called in to assist in the investigation.

Kin plan crib marathon

If you happen to be driving along the highway between Kinmount and Minden on Saturday, September 29, don't be surprised if you happen to pass a group of people pushing what appears to be a baby crib mounted on bicycle wheels.

The people in that group won't be taking part in some strange rite of autumn, in fact they'll be participating in a 25 km trek to raise funds to purchase a new croupette for the Minden Hospital.

Those otherwise sensible adults are members of the Minden Kinsmen Club, Kinettes and K-40 club and they intend to push that baby crib from the Somerville 11th line to the Minden hospital.

Pledges are now being accepted for the marathon crib push and if you have not been approached yet for a donation, you can drop off your pledge at Home Hardware in Minden, the Cosy Cabins, Minden Marine and Automotive and McKnights Shell Centre.

Any funds that are left over after the croupette has been purchased, will be donated by the Kinsmen Club to the Peterborough CAT scan fund.

McKnight seeks PC nod in next Ontario election

With less than a week since the federal election drew to a close, interest is starting to grow in a possible provincial campaign. Minden native Larry McKnight has announced his intention to seek the nomination of the Victoria-Haliburton Progressive Conservative party for the next provincial election.

McKnight announced his intention to run in a press release issued earlier this week. In the statement he said, "There is no doubt that this area has stagnated under the present provincial representation. It is time the constituency had a member on the government side of the Legislature."

The potential candidate cited his lengthy business experience and his involvement in the community as assets which would be of assistance if he were chosen to run. McKnight currently operates Minden Marine at the corner of Highway 35 and Main Street.

"With the background in small business management, I feel I can help make decisions that will improve the economy of the riding," McKnight stated.

The candidate is a member of the P.C. riding executive, serving as first vice president.

"It is time for a change in this riding," McKnight concluded.

Larry McKnight is one of the first political hopefuls to announce his intention to run in the provincial election expected later this fall.

"I think I can provide a fresh perspective that will result in improvements for all sectors of Victoria-Haliburton."

While no official announcement has been made, speculation among members of the PC party is that an election will be called for November 22. Premier William Davis is expected to announce the provincial vote shortly after the Queen has concluded her visit to the province in early October.

Another school year

He notes that there are more students in the grade 12 and 13 classes than anticipated. "Some of those students have returned to school after an absence. People are realizing that they have to continue in school because of the competitive job market," he notes, adding that competition is also keen for admission into post secondary schools.

While curriculum and educational policies remain basically unchanged in the elementary system, there will be some significant changes in secondary education beginning this year. Students entering grade 9 will have a choice of completing their secondary education in four or five years in order to qualify for admission to university.

According to Dale Robinson, "The most critical time for these students will be when they enter grade ten," since the students will have to decide which path to follow.

While students do have the choice of completing their secondary education in four years, Robinson feels that the students will have a "much more rounded education" if they choose to take the five year course. The changes in the system are a result of the Ontario Schools, Intermediate and Senior (OSIS) policy of the Ministry of Education. Robinson notes that "It will be much tougher for students to get their grade 12 diploma" since the students will be required to complete 30 credits, three more than under the old system.

Students will also be required to complete 16 compulsory credits to obtain their grade 12 diploma. Presently there are only 8 compulsory subjects. Robinson points out that because of the increase in compulsory credits, students will not be able to choose as many options as before. Under the new OSIS policy one credit in French is compulsory. This will be taught in grade nine.

Robinson notes that the decision to make French a compulsory subject "has not been popular in some quarters, but I feel personally that a good grounding in French will be helpful to students in the future since many jobs, such as sales, the civil service and the Armed Forces require applicants to be bilingual."

He feels that French is as important for students taking the four year general level course as it is for those taking the five year academic course prior to entering university.

In order to qualify for admission to university, students must attain six Ontario Academic Credits.

While the course for the OAC credits can be set by the school, they must meet standards set by the Ministry of Education.

Robinson notes that "The Ministry is taking a much stronger stand in what is being taught in the secondary schools" and sees more standardization of exams in the future.

The teaching staff at HHSS has been increased to 40.5 teachers to meet the demands of the OSIS policy. Robinson notes, "Even though enrolment is approximately the same as last year, we have to offer

Official count reverses standing

The official count of the votes cast in Victoria-Haliburton last Tuesday has resulted in a realignment of the order of finish. The count was released yesterday by riding returning officer, John Bovie in Lindsay. It showed that all three major candidates received less votes than previously reported and that the Liberal candidate, Bruce Glass, placed second in the running, not the NDP candidate, Patrick Daniel, as earlier reported.

The returning officer explained that totals from various polling stations were, on some occasions, submitted more than once. On some occasions the deputy returning officer would report, followed by one of the agents for the candidates. The problem was cleared up Monday as election officials went over the tally sheets to prepare an official count.

The official count showed the incumbent, Progressive Conservative Bill Scott received 30,229 votes. In second spot was Liberal Bruce Glass with 10,032 votes. NDP candidate Patrick Daniel placed third in the riding with 8,682 votes. In fourth place was George Kerr of the Green Party with 339 votes, while the Libertarian candidate, Robert Durnin garnered 324 votes.

According to the Elections Canada official, there were 210 rejected ballots in this riding. Some 49,816 voters out of a potential 66,835 eligible residents cast a ballot on September 4. The turnout in this riding was just shy of 75%.

The following are the poll by poll results of the voting in Haliburton County.

IF YOU DON'T REMEMBER YOU MAY NEVER FORGET.

There are some very good reasons to stop for stationary school buses. Such as the penalties for not stopping, which could include six demerit points, fines up to $1,000 and even imprisonment.

And this year, there's something new to watch for. Chrome yellow school buses can be used for passengers under 18 to or from any event—day or night. Drivers will activate their flashing red lights and stop arms when their passengers get on or off the bus.

But the most important reason of all is simply this: Your mistake could cost a child's life. And that kind of mistake is never forgotten.

So remember, drivers going in both directions must stop for a school bus with its red lights flashing and stop arm extended.

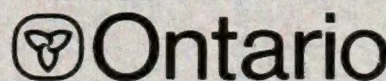

Drivers approaching from behind must stop at least 20 metres (about six car lengths) behind the bus.

So be extra careful at all times. Keep an eye out for flashing lights and stop arms on school buses. Please, don't take a chance with the life of a child!

Finding the middle ground

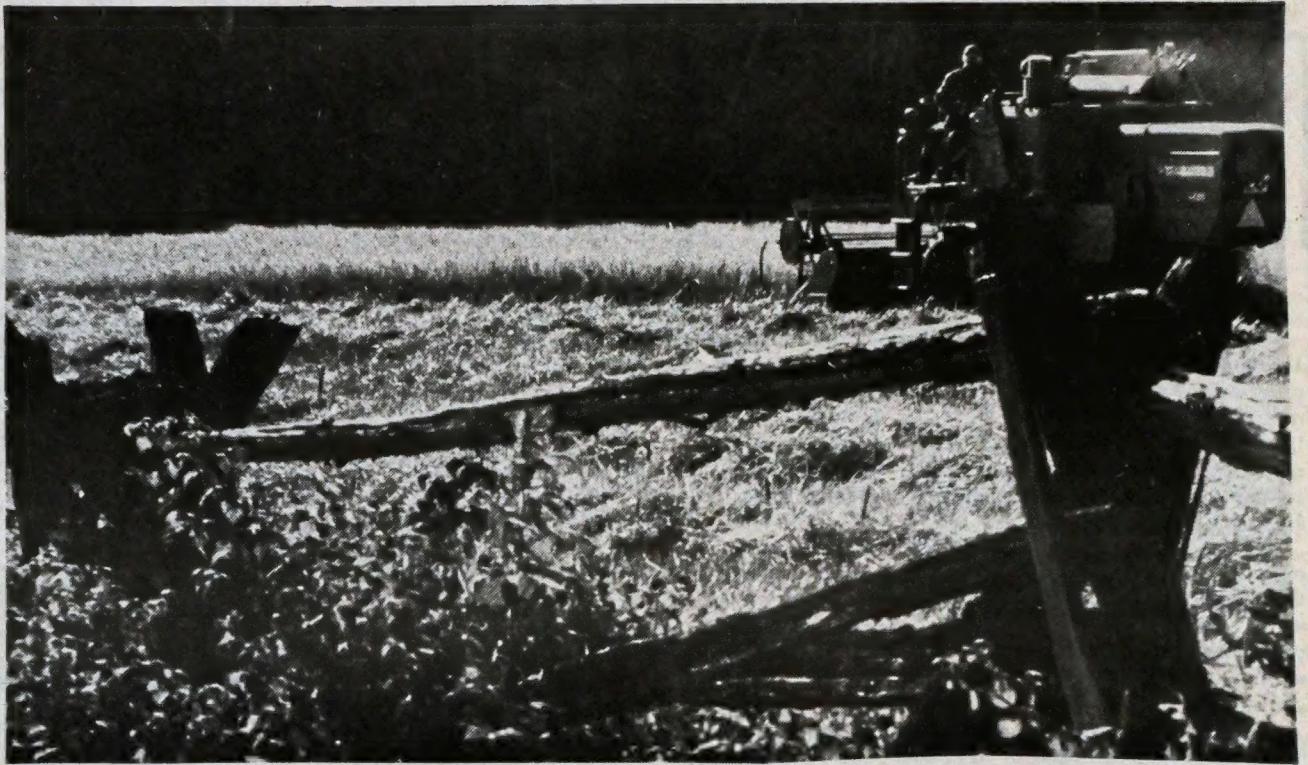

The dilemma raised in Lutterworth Township recently, in regard to the operation of a wrecking yard, is not a new one to the county, or for that matter any area which serves as a recreation area.

On the one hand individuals who have selected the Haliburton Highlands as their place to escape from the pressures of the city are very sensitive about the setting here. Their concern is based on first hand experience for they have seen what the impact of over-development can be. Air and water pollution, overcrowding, vistas lost to tall buildings and excessive development, these are all scenarios common to those who call the major urban areas home. Having chosen the Highlands as a second home, a rural or lakeside retreat, they want to protect the pristine nature of the area. Sometimes that quest to protect can lead to a confrontation such as that which has arisen now in Lutterworth Township.

The permanent residents of the Highlands, while being aware of the value and attractiveness of the setting in which they are fortunate to live, these individuals must also find a way to earn a living in an area where the economy only moves into high gear for a brief period each year. As a letter on the right correctly points out, those who have made this their home have a right to make a living as well.

There is a middle ground here that hasn't been reached. Wrecking yards have existed in other areas of the county and with proper screening and maintenance few people even knew they were there. Lutterworth Township has a zoning by-law that sets out regulations governing the operation of such businesses. Properly enforced such a by-law should provide the protection everyone, seasonal and permanent residents, seek for the local environment. Effort should be made to find that middle ground and to allow the rezoning to proceed, with assurances that every effort will be made to make this facility as unobtrusive as possible.

One other point worth considering, a wrecking yard may not be the most pleasing sort of operation, but it could be considered an essential source. The alternative is to have abandoned, rusting cars dotting the countryside rather than collected in one location.

I read with interest the item "Objection raised to yard" in last week's issue. It's the same old story, people from the urban areas retire here with their comfortable pensions and then start raising objections because some poor soul nearby has to make a living. There are no big employers here who come up with fat pension plans, we natives have to provide for our own futures.

Sir, your readers may recall the "stink" that was raised in this paper two years ago when Armbrós brought their asphalt plant to Minden. Someone wrote at length about the pollution and "rotten egg smell" that would ensue. That was another premature prediction. What they did get was the excellent road that the company had to construct to carry the heavy traffic.

The time has come here, as elsewhere, that if you want your solitude you simply have to go further into the hinterland to find it. Mrs. Bailey should take heart from the fact that that which you fear, most rarely materializes.

By chance I just came across an article in the Toronto Star dated June 12, 1984, which stated that a group of parents, educators and students has urged the North York School Board to train at least 30 teachers and develop a curriculum to deal with the problem of surviving nuclear war. Apparently the curriculum would be a non-credit course that could be incorporated into any subject. The article suggests, too, that a similar curriculum is being developed by the Toronto School Board, based on a successful program in Boston.

A course on nuclear war for school children may first appear to be a sensible, futuristic suggestion. However, by accepting such a thought we seem to be admitting that nuclear war is imminent, and consequently we should now prepare the next generation for this ultimate disaster.

As realistic as this proposal may sound, I find the idea rather scary. Some educators, parents and others in positions of influence are indicating to our children that they have no future but still they should be prepared for it. Is this not a peculiar irony? If there is any truth in what knowledgeable persons in the field of nuclear fission are saying, then there is actually no preparation to an all-out nuclear war, and that anyone who survives such a holocaust would live only to regret it. Maybe the course is intended to prepare the next generation for a partial nuclear war even though it is generally acknowledged, also by those in authority, that such a war is impossible.

What really scares me is the realization that there are adults who actually believe that they are being responsible, and even realistic by accepting nuclear war as certain, and who think that they can prepare others for its consequences. Such persons need to be reminded again and again that the road to nuclear war is a "dead end". Obviously it is not a route to even consider.

Teachers and students are now returning to a new year of opportunities. To instruct children in surviving a nuclear war would not only be offering them false security, but restricting their awareness that the peoples of our earth are continually improving their understanding and appreciation of one another. Already there are numerous areas in which co-operative efforts extend around our global community. All of us - teachers, students, politicians, everyone - must thoughtfully and practically involve ourselves in enlarging and strengthening our positive relationships throughout the world.

In very recent years our society generally has undergone many fundamental changes. Certainly the technology of warfare is no exception. As a result, we can no longer think in terms of winning as we did in the last two world wars. Whether we like it or not, the heroes and heroines of war are now of the past, and world war has become obsolete. (For this we can thank the discoveries of atomic power.) We need to recognize that war is not an instrument which will assure our children and grandchildren a place of peace and freedom.

For those who are still hanging on to the archaic belief that we must prepare to destroy our enemy, they might have to find significance in the biblical thought of loving the enemy. As simplistic and naive these statements may sound, we have surely no other choice but peace itself, and it is to that aim we instruct our children.

Instead of training teachers, therefore, to prepare children for the aftermath of nuclear war - when future itself has no meaning - all school boards throughout the world need to encourage their teachers to involve their students realistically in the avenues of peace. The purpose of education is not to prepare us for death, but for life, and that in itself is a full-time job.

Ingoldsby,

Scientists are increasingly looking on fish as the canaries of the deep. In Germany, for example,

Redmen prepare for 1984 gridiron season

In the 1983 secondary school football season, the HHSS Junior Redmen dominated their opponents, winning all six regular season games by a wide margin.

The Seniors split their season winning two and losing two and like the Junior team, were defeated in the playoffs.

This year the coaches and players hope to equal or improve their win-loss record.

Coach Gary Brohman feels the junior team can repeat last year's performance and is optimistic about their playoff chances. "I think we can match last year's record. We are not as strong, but we have good depth," he said. Adding, "We have an excellent crop of Juniors this year."

"We have 29 juniors led by returnees Tom MacLeod at quarterback, receiver Ian Cooper and our leading running back, Andrew Burk," he said. Also returning to the Juniors are linemen Sandy Sutherland, Brad Archer, Derek Little and Dan Johnston.

The defence will be anchored by veterans Kevin Barnhart and Craig Crowe.

The junior rookies this year are Glen Scheffee, Ken Kreller, Jason Stamp, Matthew Creelman, Sean Whitfield, Rob Pearsall, Gene Cowen, Scott Raymond, Drew Mitchell, Jaro Cooper, Jeff Popple, Dwayne Cooper, Myles Johnston, Dave Hodgins, Ron Perrin, Gord Wood, Blake Callard, Pat Irwin, Allan Rydman and Steve Mackie.

Coach Brohman noted this marks only the third season that the junior program has been in

In referring to the players who have junior experience, the coach noted, "There is no question they will help the senior team."

"Offensively our team should be strong with Trevor Powers at quarterback, Rob MacLeod and Jeff Bain at running backs, Mike MacNaull and Kevin Smith as receivers and Mike Blake on defence."

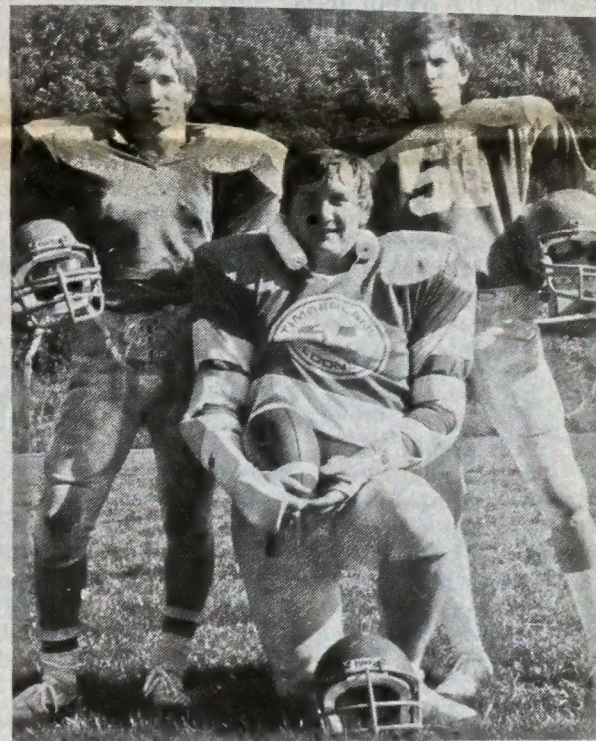

Other senior veterans are offensive back Brad Chambers and lineman Terry Hobden, Peter Allore, Sean Allore, Rob Mifflin, Defensive players who are returning to the seniors or who have moved up from the junior ranks are Paul Allore, Mike Blake, Daryl Wood, Dave Chambers, Alex. Little, Wade Woodward and Terry Sicard.

Government taking over abandoned rail lines

- by John Eakins, MPP -

During the past few months, a number of people have contacted me with regard to the future use of the CNR Lindsay-Haliburton railway right-of-way. Their concern is just what the ultimate use will be of this land.

It is important that everyone and especially those with abutting properties, be kept well informed and be asked to participate in the planning process.

I recently wrote to the Honourable James Snow, Minister of Transportation and Communications, about the proposed planning and I feel it would be quite in order to quote a portion of his reply:

"During the past decade, railway companies have abandoned services on many Southern Ontario branch lines. It has been the practice of the railway companies in the past to sell the abandoned rights-of-way to whomever needs it and is willing to pay the price. In light of the fact that many of these abandoned rights-of-way could be extremely valuable to meet present or future public transportation/recreation needs, my Ministry in conjunction with other ministries have tried to determine whether the Ontario Government should buy any of the abandoned rail corridors which are still available and preserve them for public use.

"Earlier this year, staff of the Ministry of Natural Resources and my Ministry completed a list of railway rights-of-way recommended for purchase by the government. The Lindsay-Haliburton right of way is included on this list. As most of the rights-of-way are considered to be useful for meeting public recreation needs, MNR has assumed a leading role in this matter. It is intended that MNR will approach Management Board for obtaining the necessary funding. If Management Board approves the funding, then MNR and/or MGS will negotiate with the railways for transfer of the properties.

"With regard to specific uses and management of any right-of-way acquired, including the Lindsay-Haliburton line, local governments, interest groups and property owners would be consulted before any final decision is made. The management and delivery of this program (yet to be approved) will be the responsibility of MNR."

I am sure that the Ministry will keep the public interest in mind during the planning process and provide the opportunity for input.

from the chamber

An article in the Muskoka Sun by John Enright regarding a survey of cottagers completed in 1983 revealed that the average cottager spends $4700 on goods and services.

Multiply that by the number of cottagers in Haliburton County and you will be astounded by the actual impact on our economy. That figure does not include taxes, hydro, phone and other utilities. So much for the theory that cottagers shop before leaving home. They don't in Muskoka to the tune of 91 million dollars. They'll spend $1632 on home repairs, $750 on a boat and another $332 at the marina, $727 on groceries, $218 on furniture, $196 on the car, only $184 on booze, $172 at the hardware store, $162 at the restaurant, $79 on sports, $43 on professional services, $73 on clothing and $126 in other areas.

That's only the average cottager. The study goes on to show that the more people use the cottage, the more they spend, so more local dollars are generated. Those aged 40-50 spend the most, followed by those under 40 and the retired. The average cottager is 55.

The second home owner is older and is more affluent than the provincial average. He is married and his wife is a homemaker. 36% class themselves as professionals, 24% are pensioners and 19% managers. 86% of household incomes are $25,000 per year. 23% make over $75,000 per year.

A 1973 survey said 3 out of 10 cottages were winterized, ten years later the figure is 4 out of 10. People are staying up here longer, especially in the shoulder season, spring and fall. If you make $100,000 a year, you spend 86 days a year at the cottage, at $50,000 the figure drops to 76 days.

Next time you are relaxing in front of the fire, put your feet up and consider the contribution cottagers make to our economy. Although this survey was conducted in Muskoka, I think you will agree cottagers are major contributors in Haliburton as well.

Tourism

Before a community begins to plan for increased tourism, it needs to check out the competition in the area. The area may be 20 square miles or five hundred depending on the region, and the scope of the project planned.

The goal is to identify exactly what the community can offer tourists that is attractive, unique and complementary to facilities in the nearby communities.

No community can win in tourism without the co-operation of all the key players - especially the people who are already in the travel and tourism business. They possess most of the hands-on expertise related to tourism - as well as the essential data needed to determine existing tourism traffic in the area. Their participation should be guaranteed before community planning starts.

The transformation of a community into a tourist destination requires a good public relations program within the community - to explain to residents the benefits, the changes and the potential activities that will be involved. This public relations effort will prevent rumours and will help facilitate public spirit for the tourism program. A truly hospitable approach will ensure visitors are treated as guests and that they will have a positive experience. Some of the most successful public relations programs have been organized with respected residents as visible leaders and spokespersons.

Dreams cost money, and most of the payments are up front. There is no point in getting people excited with visions of tourism grandeur unless money is available to complete the first projects before the tourists come. In Kimberley, B.C., for example, the development of the town to date has cost 20 million - all or part of it from private financing. The first $100,000 came from residents themselves. Facing the bottom line from day one will separate reality from fantasy. What can be undertaken may be less ambitious and exciting than what has been envisioned - but it will be based upon solid economic footing. With one success in place and paid for, others can follow.

The foregoing is an excerpt from - How Committees Organize for Tourism. Sounds as if it was written for Haliburton County? Maybe so. Many areas are struggling with market plans and light budgets. Some are experiencing problems exactly like ours. Where do we spend our money effectively? How do we get the biggest bang for our bucks?

Maybe it's time the members of the Chamber of Commerce directly involved in tourism shared their expertise with us. Let's form an effective marketing committee - share our ideas and experience - and with the annual meeting just around the corner - start the year off right. Let's organize - plan, and put that plan into positive action.

three cities monitor the quality of their drinking water by relying on the special characteristics of the West-African elephant-trunk fish (or gnathonemus petersi to you ichthyologists). Normally this fresh-water species gives off measurable electrical impulses lasting a fraction of a second every minute. But if pollutants appear, the frequency of the signals decreases, indicating that it's time to test the water.

These unlikely sounding pollution fighters are extremely sensitive to changes in their aquatic environment and can respond to a new water sample every hour. It only takes .3 milligrams of lead per litre of 1 part per 10,000 of trichloroethylene, to noticeably slow the rate of electrical emissions. And recent experiments at Coburg Technical College where the monitoring system was developed, show that the fish is sensitive to most common pollutants.

Closer to home, delegates to the recent annual meeting in Toronto of the Citizens Coalition Great Lakes United, saw Dr. John Black of Roswell Memorial Institute, illustrate how Great Lakes pollution may soon be tracked by monitoring fish tumours. Black retrieved sediment from an Ohio river of the same name that is polluted by a group of hydrocarbons common to iron and steel industries' harbours.

In his lab he fed an extract of the pollution to one group of brown bullheads, which are commonly afflicted with ugly skin tumours in the Black river, and painted it on another group. Eight out of ten fish in the first group soon had damaged livers, with the same type of tumours as in their Black River kin. And within a year the group with the body paint grew skin tumours, again similar to those from the river.

To date, a very few tumours can be pinned on specific chemicals. But that situation may change as research proceeds. It's a sinister situation. Unlike a decade or two ago, when heavy pollution wiped out fish stocks in some North American waters altogether, today's carcinogens appear to cause a whole range of delayed reactions. More than 800 chemicals have been identified in the Great Lakes; hence the term chemical soup. Goiters, reproductive failure, impaired immune systems, increased susceptibility to parasites and infection, as well as cancer, afflict a host of species including salmon, suckers, goldfish, carp and the bullhead.

What this means in terms of human health is not yet clear. No one has a handle on the combined effects of all the chemicals. But there's no doubt that when we eat fish we are subjecting ourselves to an experiment in toxicology. Chemicals do make their way up the food chain. So a word of caution when reading the government's "Guide to Eating Ontario Sport Fish": remember the geographer's dictum that "the map is not the territory."

Trent-Severn news

The decline in Haliburton Lake levels continued with the average level reaching 71.7% on September 4. This was still about 7% higher than the ten year average and 16% higher than 1983. It was, however, some 8% lower than the 1980 level and it appears the high water threat is abated a little.

Rain last week (August 29,30) was heavy enough to raise the Kawartha's several centimetres, but much of this water has been discharged. These canal route lakes are now back into their ranges and near normal for the time of year. Otonabee River flow reduction was needed beginning on Thursday, September 6 to slow the decline at the more acceptable level. The flow is still somewhat above the long term average for September.

Did you know?

by Bambi Gilder

Lost your driver's licence and afraid someone else will try to use it? Well, there will soon be no need to panic...unless you have a look alike.

Beginning January 1, 1986 Ontario will be phasing in a new photo licence system. It was felt that this would help in making our roads safer and provide police with reliable names means for proper identification. In addition, photo driver licences will prevent experienced drivers from substituting for inexperienced drivers during driver exams.

The new licence will consist of two parts. One will show the driver's photo; the second will contain information similar to that of existing licences. Also, there will be control numbers on each part to make sure they match up.

Once in place, the photo and document parts will be renewed as part of the three year renewal cycle, or can be replaced if a person's name is changed. Camera equipment will be installed in Ministry driver examination centres and motor vehicle issuing agencies across the province.

For more information on Ontario traffic safety along with subjects involving governmental, environmental, social and health, contact your County Information Centre at 457-2733. Our office is located in the Drag River Municipal Buildings (across from Emmerson Lumber) in Haliburton and we are open Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

And remember, you will never know the answer, until you ask the question.

Rug braiding course offered

- Ag. report -

by Christine Dukelow, Rural Organizational Specialist

Home Economist

Are you looking for a leisure activity which allows you to conserve energy, recycle fabrics, and save money while you create something useful and beautiful?

Rug braiding is a course designed by the Rural Organizations and Services Branch of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food to be offered as an adult leadership workshop in Victoria and Peterborough counties this October and November.

Rug braiding is a truly American craft, there being no record of its existence in Europe other than in plaited rush mats.

The use of braided rugs and mats in America begins to be recorded in the 19th century (1850 onward) in prints, engravings and writings. Any identification of braiding with Colonial settings is incorrect, however. This is due to an error by collectors in the early 1900's who wanted to add suitable floor coverings to their antique settings and so used current braided rugs which seemed to complement the antiques so well.

Rug braiding was taught, first after the 1930's in Arts and Crafts Leagues in New England, and then early in the 1950's on T.V. afternoon demonstrations, when braided rugs gained in popularity for all the new homes being built just after the war ended.

Braided rugs are enjoying a revival today partly because of the present antique collecting craze, but also because of their practicality, simplicity of construction and appealing designs which complement all styles of decor.

At the rug braiding workshop you will learn how to recycle fabrics from old household articles and clothing, and will be taught the basics of braiding. Instructions will also be given on the blending of old and new fabrics into attractive colour schemes. The braiding technique will be used by participants to create a trivet first. From there, course members are encouraged to explore other personal and household accessories from picture frames to belts, tableware and the traditional rugs.

Local adult groups from Victoria and Peterborough counties are invited to participate by nominating two course leaders to attend the workshop. These volunteers will be instructed in basic techniques of braiding as well as leadership skills and will return to their groups to pass on the information.

The courses are being offered in Fenelon Falls, Lindsay, Peterborough and Douro from mid October to early November. Please contact your local Agricultural office for further details and to register.

Red meat information meeting.

Beef producers in Victoria County will have an opportunity to learn the details of the new red meat program at an information meeting on Monday, September 24. This meeting will be held in the conference room at the Lindsay Agricultural Office, starting at 7:30 p.m.

The weaning weight program started by the Victoria Cattlemen's Association last year is the basic management program which producers in Victoria and Haliburton counties must participate in to be eligible for any of the provincial grants under the red meat policy.

The meeting on September 24 will be the main organization meeting for the weaning weight program for Victoria county this fall. All participants in this program are urged to attend, as well as any beef producers interested in getting more information on how this program works.

Repeat win for Enduro rider

For the second consecutive year, Blair Sharpless of Toronto has driven to a first place finish in the Corduroy Enduro.

The annual cross-country motorcycle endurance race, now in its thirty-first year, attracted 211 riders including over 40 competitors from the United States.

The Enduro began at noon on Saturday as the riders set out at timed intervals from the race headquarters at the Chateau Woodland on Lake Kashagawigamog.

The course followed snowmobile trails and backroads in a circular route through much of Haliburton County. The riders were required to cover distances between checkpoints in predetermined times and failure to reach each checkpoint on time resulted in a loss of points.

Any senior rider who failed to reach the next checkpoint within an hour after they were scheduled to arrive was disqualified. Junior riders were disqualified after an hour and a half.

Following the time trials on Saturday, a special test section was run with points being awarded to the fastest riders. Blair Sharpless also placed first in the special section for the second year in a row.

On Sunday the riders set out on the gruelling course again and by the time the mud splattered riders arrived back at the race headquarters late Sunday afternoon, they had driven their machines over 275 miles during the two day event.

Of the 210 men and one woman who began the Enduro, only 129 completed the course. Mechanical breakdowns and disqualifications had eliminated the rest.

Blair Sharpless, Steve Langdon and Ross Lennox, the 1982 overall winner, captured the winning team trophy driving Canadian built CanAm bikes.

In the Junior classes, Doug Marshall of Stoney Creek placed first in the lightweight division, Dennis Lathier of St. Catharines took the middleweight division and Tim Bellany of Port Elgin was the top heavyweight rider.

In the Senior classes, Barry Ferguson of Port Hope was number one in the lightweight division, John Nelson of London won the middleweight division and Wayne Lovell of Oshawa took the heavyweight division.

In the Expert class, Tom Irwin of Cornwall won the lightweight division, Bob Pierce of Amherst, New York, placed first in the middleweight division and Dan Hubuda of North Tonawanda, New York, took the heavyweight division.

A perfect score on the second day of the race gave Blair Sharpless the win in the Master class and first overall.

In the Veterans class, for riders over forty, Mike Skinner of Buffalo, New York, drove to a first place finish.

Bert Irwin competing in the Veteran class was competing in his twenty-sixth Corduroy Enduro.

When the British Empire Motorcycle Club organized the first enduro 31 years ago, the riders set out from Toronto, drove cross country to Haliburton county, then, after a night's rest, returned to Toronto. The race headquarters was then moved to Norland after the first year, and after 20 years, set up at one of the lodges on Lake Kashagawigamog.

In the early days many of the riders drove British built motorcycles but over the year, Japanese, Swedish and now Canadian bikes dominate moto-cross

Family and friends were waiting at the Gooderham fairgrounds on Saturday afternoon as riders competing in the Corduroy Enduro paused for a brief pit-stop. Drivers took the opportunity to refuel their motorcycles and quench their thirst before completing the last section of the race.

racings. However, as one organizer of the Corduroy Enduro pointed out, the most important factor in the enduro is not the brand of motorcycle, it is the preparation of the bike that is important.

That may be said of the riders as well and as was evident on Sunday afternoon, many of the bone-weary riders were recapping the race and preparing themselves for the 1985 Corduroy Enduro which tradition dictates, will be held on the first weekend after Labour Day.

It wasn't all smooth sailing for some of the participants in the open canoe competition Saturday in the Minden Wild Water Preserve. This participant found himself awash in the foaming water after his craft upset at one of the trickier chutes. The high volume of water being run through the Gull system this autumn added to the challenge of Sunday's racing.

Leave nothing but footprints

At this time of year many people are enjoying out-of-doors autumn activities such as hunting, camping, canoeing, fishing and hiking.

Whatever the activity, it is always a pleasure to find recreation areas unspoiled. Unfortunately this is not always the case. Favourite spots are too often found littered with lunch refuse, bottles, tins and other garbage. Each season many sites must be cleaned up by other concerned persons, or in many cases, by staff from the Ministry of Natural Resources. This is costly not only in terms of time and dollars, but also in the aesthetic and environmental impact.

How many times have you seen where thoughtless persons have left garbage and debris along your favourite trail or on the shore of your favourite lake and muttered to yourself, "there ought to be law?" Take heart! There is a law and if violators are caught, they can be prosecuted. There is provision under The Public Lands Act whereby an offender is liable to a fine of up to $500.00.

A genuine effort to ensure that recreational areas are left clean and tidy should be an accepted responsibility of all good recreationists.

After all, if you can pack it in full, surely you can carry out the empty container. A good example to others in this regard may just be contagious.

Klondike Jubilee returns to Gooderham

The emphasis was on family participation as the community of Gooderham hosted the Klondike Jubilee on Saturday, September 8.

The first Klondike Jubilee was held in 1983 as part of the Haliburton Highlands Harvest Festival and although the Festival was not held this year, the organizers of last year's Jubilee decided to make the event an annual affair.

Following the pancake breakfast that opened the day's activities, a ladies invitational baseball tournament was the centre of attraction. By the end of the afternoon the winners had been decided. The team from Hinterland took the top honours and Gooderham was awarded the consolation cup.

The afternoon program opened with the judging of the brightly decorated children's bicycles. In the 8 year old and under class Erin Pettitt took the first prize ribbon and Jimmy Dewey Jr., placed second. In the over 8 class Michael Billings had the best decorated bicycle and Jason Donaldson was the runner up.

Following the awarding of the prizes, the decorations were removed from the bikes and the youngsters took part in the bicycle rodeo.

Jeff MacDuff had the fastest time in the 14 and over class ahead of Trevor Kennedy and Trent Kennedy. Jason Billings placed first in the 10-14 year old class. Craig Hunter was second, ahead of Jason Donaldson. In the under ten division Wayne Barr took top honours. Michael Billings came in second and Erin Pettitt placed third.

While the youngsters took part in their own events some of the best horseshoe players in the county took part in the horseshoe tournament.

The team of Bruce Armstrong and Frank Travis pitched their way to a first place finish. Frank Shoering and Bill Peel came in second and Harvey Roberts and Rick Reil placed third.

The flower and vegetable show provided gardeners an opportunity to display their harvests grown in the fine soil of Gooderham.

Robert Hunter took home three first place ribbons for his roses, dahlias and the best bouquet.

Marie Dewey was awarded red ribbons for her pansies, tomatoes, celery, potatoes, corn, dill and fruit display.

Marjorie Billings won first prize for her cucumbers, peppers, carrots, beets and zucchini.

The competition that ended the afternoon's activities had the distinction of being the lengthiest contest of the Jubilee.

Ken Graham was named the overall winner of the beard growing contest which commenced at the Gooderham Horseshoe Days on August 3. Bill Travis was the runner up in the marathon event.

After all the competitions were finished, families gathered in the Community Centre for supper then capped off the day with a dance under the stars.

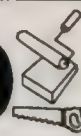

There was something for everyone as the warm sunshine added to the enjoyment of the Klondike Jubilee in Gooderham on Saturday. Pictured above right, a player lays down a bunt during the invitational softball tournament. Right, Robert Hunter's dahlias. Below, a youngster appears puzzled as she examines a homemade spacemobile which was one of the entries in the bicycle decorating contest.

Walter W. Noice Obituary

Walter Wilfred Noice passed away August 30 in Minden. The native of this community was 89 at the time of his death.

Mr. Noice had played a prominent role in the growth of the community and country. He was a veteran of World War One, having served at Ypres, the Somme and the Battle of Vimy Ridge, before being wounded and invalided home in 1917.

Upon his return to Winnipeg, Mr. Noice was actively involved in the formation of a service organization for returning war veterans. He was one of the first to be sworn in as a member of the Great War Veterans Association, later to become the Royal Canadian Legion.

Prior to leaving for overseas on his tour of duty, Walter was married to Mavis Marshall. A well-known poet, his wife died in May of 1977.

The couple returned to Minden in 1944. A number of years later he purchased a part interest in the Minden Echo and Haliburton Recorder and served for some time as the editor of the publication with his wife contributing poems to the newspaper.

Mr. Noice also served as the Reeve of Dysart Township from 1956 to 1957, the first secretary manager of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, was a member of St. Paul's Anglican Church, the Masonic Lodge and the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 129.

His association with the legion goes back to his return from overseas during World War One. He was an active member of the Haliburton branch since its formation in 1928 and in recent years, was a member of the select group of World War One veterans who were honoured each year at special ceremonies. Mr. Noice was presented with the golden anniversary medal in 1976 marking 50 years of membership in the Legion and the Great War Veterans Association.

Mr. Noice was also an avid painter. In recent years some of his work was featured at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery in Minden and his painting of the Old Minden Schoolhouse hangs in the Minden Public Library.

Mr. Noice is survived by his daughter Yvonne Guida of Minden, five grandchildren and twelve great-grandchildren. He was predeceased by brothers Fred, Arthur, William and Jack, and sisters Ida and Flo.

Funeral services were held at the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home in Minden and at St. Paul's Anglican Church on September 2. Interment followed at the Minden cemetery.

High school increases staff

more services so the staff must be increased." Additional staff is required for the compulsory French program and for the Special Education program in which classes are restricted to a maximum of 15 students.

In addition to the changes being carried out as a result of the OSIS policy, the school will be acting on recommendations made in the Co-operative Evaluation and Development of School Systems report that was submitted to the Board of Education in May.

The CEDDS report, a joint project between the Haliburton County Board of Education and the Ministry of Education analysed and recommended changes in English instruction from Kindergarten to grade 13, intermediate mathematics, the role of the director of education and the role of teachers and principals.

Robinson also pointed out that preparations are already being made for the 1985-86 school year. A committee is being set up to study the possibility of establishing a semester system at HHSS similar to programs currently in effect in other secondary schools in the province.

In the semester system students study four subjects from September to January when they write exams on those subjects.

From January to June the students study four different subjects.

A decision will be made in the spring of 1985 as to whether or not the semester system will be introduced into the schools next year.

Centre has busy program

by Anna M. Nichol

The saying, "it pays to advertise", has certainly come true. The card afternoons are well-attended. Names are coming in daily for the cake decorating workshop, Senior Swim at Locarno, Fun and Fitness programs and coffee and craft mornings.

A change has been made in the schedule; cribbage will be played on Friday afternoons beginning September 21, 1984 at 1:15 p.m. instead of Tuesday afternoons.

I would like to take the opportunity to thank the volunteers who have taken the responsibility of overseeing the activities at the Drop-In Centre for the Fall and Winter months, Vi Smith, Laura Hartwick, Roy Fleming, Norm Clift, Bruce Armstrong, Bruce Henry and Connie Love.

Come and visit us at the Drop-In Centre in the Drag River Municipal Building or contact us at 457-2941 if you require information concerning the activities.

Spot The Shot

Alas, this is it for the 1984 edition of Spot the Shot contest. It's been a good season with lots of fun and a growing number of perambulating poets who travelled the highways and byways of the county to identify our mystery sideroad of the week. Special thanks to everyone who took part this year, especially the Hicks family. Before we sign off for another year, however, we must let a number of our rhyming respondents have their final fling. First, the mysterious Byway Bard:

The Spot the Shot contest is almost done,
And not one damn prize have I won.
The latest photo is really tough,
And I confess I've had enough.
But bring back the contest next year, Jack,
And more rhymes you'll receive from this poetic hack.

Well Mr. Bard, the prize might have been yours if we had but known who you were and where to send the coveted $25 gift certificate.
And this from Lorna Hicks:

This fine summer has come to the end,
With guessing the shot in number ten.
I'm sure I'm not the only one,
Who thanks Jack and the others for the fun.
And wants THIS WEEK back next summer TIMES
And my answer now, Essonville Line.

Right on the button as usual Lorna. You were right, many readers added a little thank you note to their entry. It was great to hear that you enjoyed the contest once again this year. And yes, we'll be back with another edition next summer.

Drum roll please.

And now for the final winner of a $25 gift certificate from The Times redeemable at any of the merchants appearing in our Fine Dining or Pot Pourri sections. The winner is Cathy Snell of Minden.

Thank you again, everyone.

Any senior citizens who are interested in afternoon movies at the Library, please call Bev. Wood at 286-2491. It is important you call - otherwise arrangements cannot be finalized.

Don't forget children's movies Friday evenings at the Library/Cultural Centre from 7:15 to 8:15 p.m. Admission is free.

The Minden Agricultural Society will be holding their regular general meeting on Wednesday, September 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the exhibit building at the Minden Fairgrounds. Everyone is welcome.

Winners for Monday evening's card party this week were: Most lone hands - Eleanor Green. High Man Larry McGee and High Lady Shirley Bunker. The door prize went to Clarence Bunker and other winners for the evening were Audris Taylor, Mary Stevenson (you show him how it's done Mary) and Jim McCarthy.

The last of the Museum card parties was held at the Library Cultural Centre last Thursday. After cards, Wintario tickets were given out, one to Pearl Cowan for perfect attendance. Isobel Robertson had the closest guess as to the number of pennies (Euchre) in the jar and received another tickets for having most lone hands. Other winners were Irene Houghton and Johann Beattie. Everyone then enjoyed crackers and cheese, coffee and cookies. Thanks to the Museum Committee. Mrs. Jenny Hagan received the proceeds from these games on behalf of the group and very ably thanked them for their donation of almost $150.00.

Something we consider a good idea - did you notice the electioneering signs are all gone? Too bad the others who post their signs would not remove them as promptly. Also, why not clear the sign at the post office of its August events!

Mrs. Gerald McFarlane of Montego Bay, Jamaica, is enjoying a holiday with her sister and her husband, Marjorie and Ray Usher, at their cottage on Canning Lake.

A Tribute to My Father Walter Noice

The clouds of God
Were crying tears of sorrow
For the servant of God
Who would not greet the morrow.
He said, "Let me die with boots on -"
And he did!
In 1895, a son was born -
One of many,
But this one was proud
He served his country well
In war and peace,
Was wounded and received for his efforts
(Which would plague him all his life)
Two medals -
But he wore them proudly.
He fought for his country in every way -
Was much maligned when he would not play
The game
Of Politicians!
He believed in Canada
And did his very best
To further it!
There are many who will not forget
What he did for his roots
Which sprang from Minden,
Minden and Haliburton
Have cause to sing his praises,
And that is what I, his daughter
Am doing.
I know he is looking down
From Heaven,
Where I hope he is re-united
With my mother.
He would say, "Let no man write my epitaph"-
But forgive me Father,
It is your daughter who always loved you both.

by Bert Harrison

A busy weekend here at Hyland Crest. Most of the residents had special guests. Ruby Lewis had visitors from across the water, I think she said it was her daughter. Della Curry's family came and did take their mother to Haliburton Lake. We would like to say some of Annie Cox's family visit her every day. Teddy Carr's daughter and husband came and Ted's grandson too, you should have been around, for he is only 14 and weighs 190 pounds. Madeline Trepanier had a caller too, so did Marjorie Shuyler, who used to help her son operate Blairhampton Golf Club, before she had to retire. Mary Oliver had her brother here to visit for a few days. Edna Cowan has gone to Toronto. Her room-mate would like to step out too, but doesn't know where to go. Someone else had a visitor too, Mrs. Moon, I saw her son wheel her in at noon.

Monday was a holiday but Doris came in and we had fitness anyway. Teddy Carr won with throwing of the darts the game that we play which is really fine. Then we watched movies at 1:00 p.m. "The desperate of Time".

We welcome Marie Baker back from a two week holiday, we really miss you Marie when you are away.

Monday night we had games night. The Drysdales took over again, I played with the rest but didn't win.

Myrtle Walker is back from a week's holiday, so many are coming back after their holidays.

Rev. George Elliott from Minden Anglican Church conducted a communion service in the chapel this September day. We thank you both for coming, Fred Ballard the music did play.

Well readers, the election is over and the experts were not wrong, but they didn't expect the Tories to win so strong. If the candidates don't fulfill their promises that they electioneered about, well the first chance we get, we'll have to kick them out.

Jack Shaw is back from a few days holidays. Someone always fills in for Jack when he is away.

Last night was music night but no one came to play, I played a few tunes on the harmonica myself that night.

Down at fun and fitness, we played horseshoes as we often did before. Wilbert Sisson, won a perfect score.

It is so nice to have Beryl Moon who has been absent for a while back waiting on our tables and with the cutest little smile.

Thursday afternoon the Kinmount Ladies of the
